Take a Moses Lake weekend road trip

Autumn at the Japanese Peace Garden // © Gary Nichols

By Lisa Laughlin

For uncrowded recreation, open skies, and wide vistas, central Washington is the place to go. At the heart of the region, the city of Moses Lake will provide all the play you could ask for on a summer or fall weekend. You’ll be able to hike for hours in the larger Columbia Basin Wildlife Area, a 192,000-acre area with 13 unique units, each alive with flora and fauna that will give you a feel for this arid, high-desert region. A variety of fish await fishermen in the lowland lakes of the area, which host Bluegill Sunfish, Walleye, Smallmouth Bass, Rainbow Trout, Black Crappie, Yellow Perch and more. Area amenities include craft beer and wine tasting rooms, family-owned restaurants, seasonal baseball and fastpitch tournaments, and fall harvest festivities. As a town of 26,210 surrounded by more agricultural fields than highways, the Moses Lake area has plenty of gravel riding opportunities for cyclists. A wide-open ride also means a shadeless ride, so riders should be sure to bring their own drinking water. The Larson Recreation Center is home to a BMX track sanctioned by the American Bicycle Association for those looking to go off-road. (Check the BMX track Facebook page https://www.facebook.com/moseslakebmx1709/events/?ref=page_internal to make sure there’s not a race before you head out to ride.) For biking around Moses Lake, refer to the city’s Activity Trails Map at www.cityofml.com/480/Activity-Trails-Map. You’ll be able to cycle on a mix of bike lanes, multi-use paths, and road shoulders as you tour quiet areas surrounded by agriculture with views of the lake. If hiking is more your thing, it will be easy to fill a morning or afternoon with one of the region’s desert hikes, taking time to explore the desert hues (spectacular in fall) of the Potholes region via the Desert Wildlife Area hike, located just north of the Winchester Wasteway. Hikers, fishers, and cyclists alike will be delighted by the miles of sagebrush, native grasses, shrubs, and small waterways that are home to animals such as Blue Heron, loons, deer, coyotes, rabbits, hawks, eagles, and more. Before or after recreating, get to know the community of Moses Lake by visiting the Moses Lake Farmer’s Market <https://www.farmersmarketml.com/> (open every Saturday May through October), where you can “get fresh with the locals” and enjoy produce straight from the farm. (You’ll want to try the sweet corn.) Whether you choose to hike, bike, fish, shop, camp, or catch a baseball game, your vacation to Moses Lake will provide a small-town desert getaway with memorable recreation, history, and culture.

Visit Olympic Game Farm

The Olympic Game Farm has been entertaining families for over 50 years. The farm has hundreds of animals on site for families to “Get Face to Face with Wildlife” from the comfort of their vehicles on the famous Driving Tour. Olympic Game Farm is the place to get face to face and experience wildlife at close range. You’ll have the opportunity to really see a tiger’s stripes, a Kodiak bear’s huge size or to get slobbered by a buffalo! Experiences, which at first are hard to imagine, become pleasantly surprising: friendly llamas eat bread from your hand, bears, grazing elk, zebra and buffalo. You will also see many animals which are on the endangered species list, such as timber wolves, tigers, and African lions. In addition to the endangered species, Olympic Game Farm is home to coyote, bobcats, and many more species. Bread to feed the animals must be purchased at the Game Farm. Bread purchases may be limited when appropriate. No reservations are required, operations are on a first come first served basis. Cash or card only. Olympic Game Farm is fun for the whole family! It is located at 1423 Ward Road in Sequim. For more information visit www.olygamefarm.com

Ride the Wenatchee River!

The Wenatchee River is the most popular river in Washington State. This scenic river stretches from the mouth of the Tumwater Canyon in Leavenworth, down to the confluence of the Columbia River in Wenatchee. Commercial whitewater rafting trips are a favorite activity for all! From Leavenworth to Cashmere, you can experience the tallest waves in the state and the notorious rapids of the Wenatchee like Rock’n’Roll, Rodeo Hole, and Drunkards Drop... and those are just a few! The small waves of the scenic lower Wenatchee River, from Cashmere to Wenatchee, are perfect for the whole family, including the little guys. This multi-use river is also

The end of July and all of August is tubing season! There is no better way to spend a hot summer day in the Wenatchee Valley than to hit the river with a tube and some buddies.

Free Life Jacket Rental Program

Over 860 children and teens die every year in the U.S. from drowning. In Washington state, an average of 17 children and teens drown every year. Most of them are swimming, boating or just playing in or near water.

Snohomish Regional Fire & Rescue offers a free Life Jacket Rental Program. Both Type II and Type III are available, and there is an assortment of sizes ranging from Infant, Youth and Adult. All of the life jackets are Coast Guard Certified.

How do you take advantage of this program? All you have to do is visit Station 31 at 163 Village Court in Monroe between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. (Please be aware that on weekends Firefighters will be the only ones at the station so their availability may be call dependent.) Ring the doorbell if the door is shut. The staff will weigh you and fit the life jacket. They will record your name, phone number, and the day you plan to return the life jacket. When returning the life jacket, ring the doorbell, and give the borrowed life jacket to a staff member.

Free Day-Use Life Jacket Locations:
As well as the above rental program, free day-use life jackets are available at the following local parks and fire departments. (For a full list visit: www.seattlechildrens.org/dp)

- Gissberg Twin Lakes: 16324 Twin Lakes, Marysville
- Flowing Lake County Park: 17900 48th St. SE, Snohomish
- Lake Tye: 14964 Frylands Blvd., Monroe
- Martha Lake County Park: 16300 E. Shore Drive, Lynnwood
- Wyatt County Park: 10508 Chapel Hill Road, Lake Stevens
- Fire District 26; 402 Lewis St., Gold Bar
- Fire District 28, 512 Ave. A, Index
- Snohomish Regional Fire & Rescue, 163 Village Court, Monroe

It is state law that ALL people in a boat must have a properly fitting U.S. Coast Guard-approved life jacket. Washington state's lakes and rivers are cold enough to cause drowning by cold water shock, even in the summer and even among the strongest swimmers. A person in cold water can automatically inhale and pull water into their lungs. This causes them to choke and panic. Death can occur in minutes. Hypothermia is another risk. It occurs when the body temperature lowers. This leads to a loss of the strength that is needed to swim. A life jacket can reduce heat loss, keep you afloat and more than double survival time.

Do not jump or dive into unknown water, check it out for depth and any hazards or objects that can't be seen from the surface. You should only dive in water that is at least nine feet deep.

And remember that alcohol and swimming don't mix. Alcohol affects judgment and swimming skills. It also increases the effects of hypothermia.

Bob Heirman Wildlife Preserve

Bob Heirman Wildlife Preserve at Thomas' Eddy

Dave Beck, Jr. operated a gravel mining operation along the river at Thomas Eddy. The site was then purchased by the Palzer family and used for raising livestock and agriculture. The site was to be subdivided and sold for housing. The Snohomish Sportsmen's Club, led by the late Bob Heirman, led a campaign to preserve public access to one of the most popular steelhead fishing spots on the river. The Snohomish County Parks Department worked with the association to acquire the property.

With its unique setting and outstanding natural resources, Heirman Wildlife Preserve at Thomas' Eddy offers the perfect location for viewing wildlife, walking, picnicking, fishing and discovering the beauty and wonders of nature. This 343-acre natural preserve encompasses within its boundaries vast open spaces, two pristine lakes, fragile wetlands, and an extensive river environment.

Craig Romano, an award winning author, finds this wildlife preserve a birdwatchers paradise with trumpeter swans in the winter, herons, harriers, ducks, mergansers, eagles, hawks, sandpipers, woodpeckers, swallows, warblers, tanagers, orioles and goldfinch.

Rent a cabin or yurt

Have you ever wanted to go camping, but can't afford the upfront costs of tents, cookware and sleeping bags for the whole family? Or maybe it's the bugs or the prospect of sleeping on rocks that keeps you at home.

Consider reserving a yurt at Kayak Point County Park or in the Yurt Village at River Meadows County Park.

You can also reserve a cabin at Flowing Lake County Park.

Your vacation starts immediately when you rent a cabin. Instead of wrestling with tent poles, open the door, toss in your sleeping bag, and head for a hike or walk to Lechies beach on Flowing Lake. No muss, no fuss and no big bill. The cabins are virtually a "turn key" approach to camping; just bring sleeping bags or blankets, pillows, extra clothing, and food. Nothing else is necessary.

Four cozy cabins sit among a grove of Douglas fir trees and are furnished and include the convenience of electrical heaters and outlets, windows with screens, lockable doors, porches and decks. Cabin #2 is ADA accessible.

Outside, each cabin features a picnic table, fire grill and RV hookup (cabin #1 has a 4' x 12' covered porch). Heated restrooms with showers are a short walk away.

Yurts are covered in canvas and include such amenities as electric outlets, skylights, wood floors, interior lighting, windows with screens, lockable doors, and outside decks. Each Yurt comes furnished with a futon, bunk bed, and coffee table. Outside each yurt you'll find a picnic table and fire ring.

Yurt Villages include lighted walkways, a large group picnic shelter, and a heated restroom with showers. Villages can accommodate group camping (families, clubs, companies, scouts, churches, schools, etc.). For more information or to reserve your yurt or cabin, call 425-388-6600 or visit www.snohomishcountywa.gov/1082/campgrounds

Take advantage of State Park Free Days

The Washington State Parks and Recreation Commission offers "free days in which day-use visitors won't need a Discover Pass to visit state parks by vehicle.

The "free days" are in keeping with legislation that created the Discover Pass, a $35 annual or $11.50 one-day permit required on lands managed by Washington State Parks and the Washington departments of Natural Resources (DNR) and Fish & Wildlife (WDFW). The Discover Pass legislation provided that State Parks could designate up to 12 free days each year when the pass would not be required to visit state parks.

The Discover Pass is still required to access lands managed by WDFW and DNR on these days.

Free days are a great way for people to discover Washington's diverse and scenic state parks. Once people visit a park, it is hoped they will be inspired to help support their state park system by buying a pass.

The remaining State Parks free days for 2025 are:

- April 22 : Earth Day.
- June 7: Free Fishing Weekend
- June 9: Free Fishing Weekend
- June 19: Juneteenth
- Aug. 9: Smokey Bear's Birthday
- Sept. 27: National Public Lands Day
- Oct. 10: World Mental Health Day
- Nov. 11: Veterans Day

Take your family camping!

By David Lanford

Instead of going for expensive vacation packages why not bring your whole family on a great camping trip. The following will provide the great benefits that family camping can bring:

1. It's active – Obesity is a growing epidemic among children. Instead of taking your kids on a vacation where they may sit around most of the time, taking them camping will encourage them to swim, hike, and do other outdoor activities.
2. Great quality time - No TV, video games, movies, or other distractions. It's a wonderful way to reconnect with your kids.

3. It's cheap - The biggest expenses that you will have will be food and gas. Eating meals you cook yourself with groceries you bring with you is much cheaper than eating in a restaurant, and gas will probably be cheaper than what you would spend on airfare for the whole family. A camping vacation is a real vacation for the whole family because there is always something fun and active to do and plenty of time for those that wish to do nothing (usually the parents) to sit and enjoy the quiet stillness of nature.

Explore Lord Hill Regional Park

Ride horseback, hike, or mountain bike into the vast evergreen forest of this 1,300 acre upland nature preserve. A day's exploration of this unique wilderness park will include discovering many species of plant and animal life. The park contains over six miles of designated trails. From the higher points within the park, one can capture panoramic views of the surrounding Snohomish River valley and distant mountain ranges. Viewpoints such as Devil's Butte Lookout or along the ridge of the Pipeline Trail are popular destinations for viewing the Cascade and Olympic mountain ranges. Lord Hill Park offers picnic areas with portable restrooms, river beach access and playground. Trailhead parking accommodates horse trailers and tow vehicles. The park is located at 12921 150th Street SE in Snohomish. Park History Snohomish County Parks and Recreation secured the majority of the park property from the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and Washington State Parks. George Harrison (1899-1969) discovered 1,100 acres of State Forest Board land on Lord Hill that was managed by the DNR. Harrison began a process called re-conveyance action to get the land back under County control. Years later, more land was added to the park.

Hoh Rain Forest access to reopen for outdoor recreation Covering approximately 24 square miles, the Hoh Rain Forest in Olympic National Park is one of the largest temperate rainforests in the U.S. Late last year, heavy rainfall washed out the Upper Hoh Road, which provides the only access to the campgrounds, trail heads and visitor center. Approximately 176,566 vehicles used the road to access the rainforest in 2024, bringing nearly 460,000 visitors according to the National Park Service. The road is located in the Hoh River Watershed near the Hoh Indian Reservation, roughly 30 miles southeast of Forks. Governor Bob Ferguson has directed the use of $623,000 in Strategic Reserve funds on an emergency basis to fix the access road to the Hoh Rain Forest. The road to this iconic destination has been closed for months, and the federal funds typically used for such a repair have not been granted. The state funds will be used along with private donations totaling over $27,000 as required by law. These private funds were raised in just three days by members of the community that came together to make this happen. If access to the Hoh Rain Forest closed for the season, many tour operators would face a 30-40% reduction in bookings, while lodging, restaurants, shops, outfitters and other businesses close to the Hoh Rain Forest would also see significant declines. In 2023, tourists spent more than $444 million in Jefferson and Clallam counties, generating nearly $39 million in state and local tax dollars. "The Hoh Rain Forest is one of the crown jewels of Olympic National Park and Washington's coastal communities," Ferguson said. "It is also a critical driver of tourism on the Olympic Peninsula. We cannot allow access to remain closed during the peak visitor season, costing Washington businesses tourism dollars that rural communities rely on." "We appreciate the governor finding an expedited funding solution to the Hoh Road repair," said Rep. Steve Tharinger (D-Sequim). "The Jefferson County Public Works Department, with this timely funding, will be able to open the road for the summer tourist season. I would also like to give a shout out to all the folks that stepped up with private funding to help provide a match to the Governor's emergency funding." While the Upper Hoh Road belongs to Jefferson County, its sole purpose is to access federal land. When the road has been damaged in previous storms, the county has been able to access emergency funds from the Federal Highway Administration. Those funds have not yet been granted. County officials estimate it will cost approximately $650,000 to repair the Upper Hoh Road, and that repairs will take approximately a month to complete. Work is scheduled to begin mid-April. The Hoh Rain Forest averages about 140 inches of rain per year, according to the National Park Service. "The result is a lush, green canopy of both coniferous and deciduous species. Mosses and ferns that blanket the surfaces add another dimension to the enchantment of the rainforest," according to the Park Service website. You can reach the Visitor Information Center at 360-565-3130 and the Wilderness Information Center at 360-565-3100.

Low tides reveal fascinating marine life

Minus tides are a big plus for viewing sea life typically protected by surf, and there will be no better viewing opportunity this summer than the dates listed in this article.

That’s when the season’s lowest tides arrive, along with thousands of area beach-goers.

These extremely low tides give people a fascinating look at underwater marine life. There’s no better time to view and learn about these creatures and how we can protect them while they are at their most vulnerable.

If the allure of low tides isn’t enough, many clam and oyster species are in their prime as they fatten up and enter their spawning cycle.

Shellfish gatherers are reminded that they must have a state shellfish license displayed on the outside of their clothing and dig only on public beaches.

For proper beach etiquette and to protect the vulnerable critters, remember these tips:

- Walk carefully. Look where you are stepping and avoid eelgrass beds, which are oceanside nurseries for many animals.
- Keep your pets under tight control.
- Don’t take away rocks, shells, seaweed, logs and other beach items, which are food and shelter for critters galore.

• If you move rocks to look underneath them, put them gently back just the way they were. Rocks protect lots of critters, many too small to see.

• Don’t pull on animals like anemones and barnacles that are tightly attached to rocks or pilings.

• Fill up any holes you dig. Beach critters live buried in the damp sand and need protection.

• Remove trash. What you bring and what you find, especially fishing line and plastics.

This year-round hub at the largest public marina on the West Coast features hotels, restaurants, parks and trails, 75+ events, a splash fountain and even a pop-up ice rink in the winter.

Here are some of top picks to add to your Port of Everett bucket list.

• Hit the Beach on Jetty Island

Catch a ride on the foot ferry to the Port’s manmade Jetty Island Wednesday through Sunday from July 5 through August 31 for Jetty Island Days.

Jetty Island, located 1/4 mile off the Everett waterfront, is a manmade island with a sandy beach and shallow warm water that is a kiteboarder’s paradise.

The island’s 2 miles of continuous sandy beach is unique to the area and is ideal for sunbathing, picnicking and observing nature and other outdoor activities.

The seasonal foot ferry departs from the Jetty Landing Boat Launch off 10th Street and West Marine View Drive. An online reservation system makes it easy for island-goers to secure their spot on the ferry in advance. Reserve starting May 1 for the 2025 season.

Jetty Island Days is provided in partnership by the Port of Everett and the City of Everett, bringing more than 50,000 people to the island each summer. The cost for providing ferry transportation to the island is partially offset by a nominal rider fee; children ages 2 and younger ride for free but still require a reservation.

For more Jetty tips, rules, and reservations visit www.visiteverett.com/jetty.

If you don’t have internet access, please call 425-257-8300 for more information.

You can also take your own boat to the Jetty year-round. A kayak, canoe or paddleboard ride out to the island on a sunny day is a recipe for some serious summer fun.

• Kiteboarding

Jetty Island is a top destination for kiteboarding and if you’re feeling adventurous, you can take a class and learn how. Not feeling gnarly? No prob, it’s fun to watch from the beach.

• Explore the Water

Launch your adventure by boat from the Port of Everett – your gateway to all the wonders of the Puget Sound. Don’t own a boat? No problem. Freedom Boat Club – the world’s largest members-only boat club – offers a variety of vessels, from fishing boats to pleasure cruisers.

If you’d rather kayak or stand-up paddleboard, KayakShare.com rents single and double kayaks, as well as stand-up paddleboards by the half-hour. Life jackets are provided with each rental.

• Catch a Flick

The Port hosts Sail-In Cinema each summer – a free outdoor movie series held Fridays in July and August at the Port’s Boxcar Park overlooking Port Gardner Bay.

See your pick of six movies on a 40-foot inflatable screen after sunset. You can “sail in” to watch aboard your boat or “walk in” to enjoy the film from the park. A radio frequency is provided so boaters can tune in while they watch.

• Waterfront Trails

Discover the waterfront with a long walk or jog along the Port’s 4-mile Millwright Loop Trail. The trail ties in on both ends to the esplanade along the water’s edge and features views of Port Gardner Bay, the Port of Everett Marina and the mouth of the Snohomish River. There are also the Bay Wood, Pigeon Creek and Union Slough nature trails to check out.

• Groove to Music

Catch free live music at the Port during Music at the Marina every Thursday in July and August at Port Gardner Landing near the Grand Avenue Park Bridge. Enjoy a variety of local acts, a beer garden, food trucks and an art market

. The Puget Sounds Steel Drum series takes place Fridays in August at the Guest Dock near Hotel Indigo. Tie up to the dock to listen to sounds of the Caribbean.

Paddle boarding is popular

Stand up paddle (SUP) boarding has increased in popularity over the past few years.

Paddleboarding is a popular water sport where participants stand on a board and use a paddle to move through the water. Your first time or two out, you may want to rent gear or borrow from a friend. After that, if you decide you love to SUP and want to do more of it, consider buying your own.
